GO FOR THE TOUR!

Around 400 young tennis players at the age of 13 to 16 find their way to the Mercedes Jugend Cup in Renningen and Rutesheim each year. They all share the dream of becoming a tennis pro one day. But there is hardly any other tournament of this category where their dreams can come true as fast as here. The winner of the Boys U16 competition is awarded with a wildcard for the qualifying of the MercedesCup in Stuttgart! From Tennis Europe to the ATP World Tour in less than a year – this is only possible at the Mercedes Jugend Cup.

But that is not the only reason why the tournament in the proximity to Stuttgart has been ranked among the top U16 tournaments in Europe for four years now. “We offer services that you usually only get on the professional tour,” explains tournament director Peter Rohsmann. He knows the reasons for the popularity of the Mercedes Jugend Cup: a professional shuttle service (of course, in cars of the main sponsor), special catering for the participants or the free Internet café which are only three aspects greeted with enthusiasm by players and coaches every year.

And also the winners of the Girls U16 and both U14 competitions do not have to leave empty-handed. They receive a one-week training camp in the Equelite Tennis Academy of the former French Open Champion Juan Carlos Ferrero in Valencia.

That is why the “stars of tomorrow” will once again participate in this tournament. The Mercedes Jugend Cup 2010 is hosted by TSC Renningen and TC Rutesheim from August 15th–22nd by the kind patronage of the neighbouring clubs TA Spvgg Warmbronn (as the third venue) and TC Weissach-Flacht and TA SV Gebersheim, TC Leonberg and TA TSV Eltingen with practise courts.

Alexandra Dulgheru, winner of the Mercedes Jugend Cup 2004, once again won as current title holder the WTA tournament in Warsaw in May 2010 and is meanwhile ranked on position 32 in the WTA ranking. Visitors and fans of the Mercedes Jugend Cup can also experience Alexandra live at the Waldau in Stuttgart. This season she plays on position 1 in the Premier division for the TEC Waldau.

STARS OF TOMORROW

The Tennis Europe Junior Tour is the leading pan-European competitive forum for junior talent in any major sport. Jonathan Jobson.

From its earliest tournaments in the 1970s and its official creation in 1990, the Tennis Europe Junior Tour has come to be universally recognised as the best starting point for a successful career in tennis. A string of world #1s, from Ivan Lendl and Steffi Graf to Roger Federer and Justine Henin chose this path, alongside non-Europeans such as Lindsay Davenport, Lleyton Hewitt, David Nalbandian and Andy Roddick, all of who had an early taste of success on the courts of Europe's premier junior events.

The increasing professional organisation of the tournaments makes clear that the Tennis Europe Junior Tour effectively serves as a final rehearsal for life as a professional tennis player, with a cumulative ranking system, an end of season Masters tournament, Player of the Year awards and current ranking information, tournament calendars and results on TennisEurope.org.

The Tennis Europe Junior Tour developed world-wide as the platform for upcoming top players. About 350,000 spectators attend Tennis Europe Junior Tour events each year to see around 10,000 young talents from over 100 countries take their first steps on the international tennis stage. Apart from extensive coverage at TennisEurope.org, reports about the Tour in over 780 newspapers and magazines and over 12,000 minutes of annual radio and TV airtime ensure that every day people learn about the latest players to follow in the footsteps of stars like Rafael Nadal, Andrew Murray, Ana Ivanovic and Maria Sharapova.

Take part when the tennis stars of tomorrow will celebrate their first international successes on the tour at the Mercedes Jugend Cup in Renningen and Rutesheim. The Tennis Europe Junior Tour proved that it is a successful practise court for top players such as Novak Djokovic or Ana Ivanovic.
